Course name

Developing new ways to care in social work

Introduction

When coming abroad to study at CHE, you will be part of an international class. The Dutch students you will have classes with, will go abroad themselves during the second semester. There they will work on a Final Thesis or Final Project.

The English program is offered during the 4th year of our Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) program. The same program is offered in Dutch, so it is not specially developed for guest students, but a required module of the BSW. Meeting with Dutch students and interacting with the Dutch (social work) context are main characteristics of the module.

For whom it is intended

For those whom are interested in working both theoretically and practical in Dutch social work. The main focus lies on the problem solving ability of students. Being able to work together and being interested in the Dutch culture are required.
